Excerpt: . . . and full of agricultural knowledge and enthusiasm, has been most devoted in his attentions; and Count Kergorlay, a gentleman of improved information, and delightful manners, has rendered me many attentions. I have been much obliged, likewise, by the civilities of Mrs. Austin, well known in the literary world, the mother of Lady Duff Gordon, with whom I had the honor of an acquaintance in London; who has held what is called a reunion, every week; where I was accustomed to meet the most refined, both of English and French society. The Marchioness de Lavalette has likewise honored me with many attentions, and every American experiences the polite hospitalities of Mr. Green, the American banker, and his agreeable family. Mr. Vattermare leaves for the United States in April, with many thousand volumes, as a present to the different States, and to the United States. I hope you will see him. His enterprise of establishing an international exchange is a noble one, and I believe quite disinterested. Adieu. LETTER CLV. Paris, 4th April, 1847. My Dear M: You must not, after this, feel any disappointment if my letters are not regular, as I do not know in what condition or position I shall be to write, and you will not expect to hear from me oftener than once a month. It is remarkable that, during so long a separation, I believe not one of our letters has been lost or miscarried. Since I wrote to you,...
