This fascination has at all times impelled the more venturesome to action, to investigation and to conquest. History is crowded with examples of the truth of this saving. The history of our country furnishes numberless cases of the seeking after prosperity or glory in the favoring continent upon which we live. For several generations the mystery of the Atlantic Coast was sought to be solved by Dutchman. Englishman, Spaniard and Frenchman, not to speak lightly of the efforts of the valorous Swede in the same direction. Could gold be found? Could religion be furthered? Could honor be secured in this mysterious region? Such were the questions asked. Across the turbulent Atlantic - so our Dutch ancestors learned from report, from travelers and from written sources of information - there was country of unlimited possibilities, a country both like and unlike their own beloved Netherland. Their interest was aroused, when, from various sources, they heard of great rivers landlocked harbors, marsh and meadow land, and tree-clad hills, with open valleys, growing familiar products, and all near the ocean and easily reached, once the great sea was safely passed.
